

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1885.

A new stove manufactory is to be established at Ironton.

The tobacco market at Cincinnati is reported to be very dull.

This discovery of gold in Santa Rosa Mountain, Texas, is reported.

The trouble in Rowan county, it is believed, will begin again at an early day.

COLONEL C. T. ALLEN, of Princeton, is said to be looked for a first-class Consulship.

HON. J. B. McCREARY has gone to Washington to look after the interest of his constituents.

The Ohio House of Representatives has defeated Bruce's bill to punish sellers of criminal literature.

CLAY TOLLIVER, one of the famous faction of Rowan County, has been appointed Marshal of Morehead.

THERE are in this State one hundred and sixteen lodges of Knights of Honor, which have 6,900 members.

ACCORDING to report, a reduction of two hundred is to be made in the working force in the Treasury Department.

A WASHINGTON special says no new appointments of Postmasters will be made until all the existing vacancies are filled.

It is predicted with confidence at Washington that General D. C. Buell will be made Pension Agent for Kentucky.

SENATOR BLACKBURN is reported to be urging Hon. Phil. B. Thompson for the Chinese Mission with good chances for success.

DR. N. W. TRACY has organized a Division of the Sons of Temperance, at Owingsville, with a membership of about two hundred.

JUSTICE WYLLIE, of the U. S. Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, has notified the President that he desires to be put upon the retired list.

COMMISSIONER of Internal Revenue Miller is understood to have decided upon a number of changes of the personnel of the force of Internal Revenue agents.

THE Civil Service Commission says more applicants want to be examined than there will be vacancies to fill in six months, and warns them to desist, and thus avoid disappointment.

THE London Standard says: "While we are collecting evidence Russia is rushing her troops forward. Unhappily there is nothing in the news from Russia to indicate that a collision will be avoided."

A STRONG pressure has been brought to bear upon the Postmaster General to remove Republicans, especially in Virginia, and there are good reasons to believe the axe will be soon set to work.

THE Attorney-General, it is said, has given assurance to the friends of a number of United States Marshals that no changes are to be made in the Marshalships except for sufficient causes.

ALFRED LITTLE, the notorious leader in the Breathitt County war, was arrested at Ringo, on the 14th instant, by Sheriff Ringo, of Menifee County, and lodged in jail at Mt. Sterling. He is charged with forging pension certificates.

It is stated that the bill for the regulation of roller skating rinks, which has reached the third reading in the Legislature of the State of New York, will undoubtedly become a law. Its provisions, which apply to every city of over 50,000 inhabitants, are very stringent. It prohibits the attendance of children under 16 years of age during school hours, unless accompanied by their parents, and girls under that age are not permitted to remain after nine o'clock, unless so accompanied. It also prohibits exhibitions by young children in rinks and forbids the sale of intoxicating liquors in or about such places.

SECRETARY LAMAR, in conversation with several Democrats, one of whom remarked that there was dissatisfaction in the party at what was considered the dishonesty of the administration in removing Republicans and putting in Democrats, said, somewhat significantly, that it should be remembered that not only a new party but new men had come into control of the Government; that the men in charge of the departments could not familiarize themselves with the vast interests and duties entrusted to them in a day, and it was better for the country and for the administration to proceed slowly and cautiously in making selections for office. Secretary Lamar intimated quite plainly that a great deal of harm might result from undue haste, while nothing but good could come from deliberation.

MYSTERY SOLVED.

The Murder in the Southern Hotel, St. Louis a Sordid One for Lucie.

St. Louis, April 16.—It turns out that the corpse found in the trunk at the Southern hotel is that of C. Arthur Freiler, aged thirty, of London, England, a traveling salesman for John H. Dixon, decorative fabrics, of Bradford, England. He was first chloroformed and then choked to death by his friend, Walter H. Lenox Maxwell, of London, England, who subsequently rifled the baggage of Freiler of several thousand dollars which Freiler had collected for his firm, and of a large amount of personal jewelry and valuables. Maxwell murdered his victim Sunday. Monday he purchased a new cheap trunk, put the corpse in Maxwell's old trunk, packed the cheaper new trunk, and prepared for flight. His full beard he had trimmed down to a moustache and goatee. He bought a snuff-colored slouch hat, and fled precipitately on a train for San Francisco, not daring to even wait for his trunk. The sentence, "So always to traitors to the great cause," Maxwell put in the trunk with the corpse, and led the police to suspect a political murder, when really the crime was a murder for money. The two men were great friends, and were on their way to New Zealand and Australia. Freiler had been found in Freiler's stomach. Maxwell is a baronet, a member of the royal college of surgeons, England, and a relative of Lord Farnham. The police say they are sure of catching the murderer.

Stabbed for a Meal.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—While Mrs. L. Harris was engaged with her son, a domestic, she was called to the door by John McMan, a foundryman, who was somewhat under the influence of liquor. He asked for something to eat, and feeling him in his condition, and knowing him to be a dangerous man from past acquaintance with him, she ordered him away. He pushed his way in and pulling out a large pocket-knife, plunged it into Mrs. Harris's back, between the shoulders. He then fled, leaving the knife sticking in the wound. The woman's screams attracted the neighbors, and she was removed to her bedroom and medical attention summoned. The knife had inflicted an ugly wound, but did not penetrate to a vital depth. McMan is still at large.

American Ahead.—Peculiar Characteristics of Americans.—The Evils and How Restored.

In this age of haste and hurry, an age devoted to great projects and enterprises, the American people are taking the lead in the furtherance of noble works, and in the advancement of the sciences and arts. In these they deserve to take a high rank, and through the united works of millions, the American continent is fast being transformed from its untamed state and being placed on an equality with the older continents beyond the ocean. The American people are fast, under these influences, developing into a nervous, energetic race, remarkable for its vim and business qualifications; yet there is danger that in the course of years these very elements may combine to the ruin of the physical character of the people, and leave them feeble and altogether different from their forefathers. General debility is now much more common than formerly, and seems to be on the increase among the masses. Many remedies have been extensively advertised for this wide-spread complaint, but none of these have been so successful or met with such general favor as the remedy manufactured by Dr. S. B. Hartman, and named by him PERUNA.

Mr. S. S. Goudy, of Massillon, Stark county, Ohio, writes: "That he has been troubled with general debility and dyspepsia for several years; that he was induced to try PERUNA for his complaints, and that after using three bottles of the medicine he was greatly relieved. It braced him right up and gave him energy, and restored him to his youthful vigor. He ascribes his cure to PERUNA, and says it is a wonderful remedy."

Adolph Bakhaus & Co., Springfield, O., writes: "We are having a good sale for PERUNA. It sells as well as any medicine we have, and gives the very best satisfaction."

Mrs. G. W. Needham, Newtonville, Clermont county, Ohio, says: "I have been a great sufferer for the last six or seven years, with general debility and change of life. I was very much reduced. I have taken four bottles of PERUNA, which has restored me to perfect health and strength. We think PERUNA a safe and grand medicine."

GRANT'S GRATITUDE

TO HIS FAITHFUL AND TIRELESS MEDICAL ATTENDANTS.

Overcome with Emotion in Expressing His Estimate of Their Untiring Vigilance. Recalling the Assassination of Lincoln and His Own Escape.

New York, April 16.—Gen. Grant passed another night of unbroken rest. He slept in his chair until daybreak almost constantly, awakening only a few times to cough or clear his throat. Dr. Shraley propped himself up in bed and doted lightly while his charge slept. When the general awoke the doctor's eyes were closed, and the general allowed him to sleep until the entrance of Harrison. His coming awoke Shraley, who got up quickly. The general's face bore an expression of seriousness. "Have you been awake long? Are you comfortable?" the doctor asked. "Only a little while, and I am feeling all right," replied the sick man. "But it pains me to see you suffering such privations for my sake. I never knew what untiring vigilance was until now, when I see you and Douglas night after night." Here his voice broke down, caused partly by emotion, partly by the depression of Dr. Shraley. The general said no more and the physicians commenced to prepare his nourishment. Ex-Senator Chaffee called and chatted with Gen. Grant and Dr. Shraley for an hour.

GRANT'S DARKEST DAY.

Recalling Lincoln's Assassination and His Own Narrow Escape.

New York, April 16.—Tuesday, twenty years ago Gen. Grant describes as the darkest day of his life. "This," he said, "was the day I heard of Lincoln's assassination. I did not know what it meant. Here was the rebellion put down in the field and starting up again in the gutters. We had fought it as war, now we had to fight it as assassination. Lincoln was killed on the evening of the 14th of April. I was busy sending out orders to stop recruiting, the purchase of supplies and to muster out the army. Lincoln had promised to go to the theater, and wanted me to go with him. While I was with the president a note came from Mrs. Grant saying that she must leave Washington that night. She wanted to go to Burlington to see her children. Some incident of a trifling nature had made her resolve to leave that evening. I was glad to have it so, as I did not want to go to the theater. So I made my excuses to Lincoln, and at the proper hour we started for the train. As we were driving along Pennsylvania avenue a horseman drove past us on a gallop, and back again around our carriage, looking into it. Mrs. Grant said: 'There is the man who sat near us at lunch with some other men and tried to overthrow our conversation. He was so rude that we left the dining-room. Here he is now riding after us. I thought that it was only curiosity, but learned afterward that the horseman was Booth. It seems that I was to have been attacked, and Mrs. Grant's sudden resolve to leave changed the plans. A few days after I received an anonymous letter from a man saying that he has been detailed to kill me; that he rode on my train as far as Havre de Grace, and as my car was locked he failed to get in. He thanked God that he had failed. I remember that the conductor had locked our car, but how true the letter was I can not say. I learned of the assassination as I was passing through Philadelphia. I turned around, took a special train and came on to Washington. It was the gloomiest day of my life.'

One Man who Hates Grant.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 16.—The indignation meeting held here to denounce the action of State Senator and Mayor-elect John L. Curtis for having refused to vote in the senate on the resolution of sympathy for Gen. Grant was attended by an immense crowd of people of all political parties. Mr. Curtis is charged with leaving the senate because of the chaplain's prayer for Gen. Grant, and saying that if Gen. Grant died and a flag was put at half-mast on the capital he would not enter the senate. Mr. Curtis was elected senator and mayor on the fusion ticket. The chairman was Col. Reymond, one of the oldest demagogues in the city. Speeches were made denouncing Mr. Curtis' action, and resolutions were adopted arraigning him for "outrageous conduct and language," and demanding his resignation of the office to which he has been elected as well as his seat in the senate.

The Pendleton Banquet.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Arrangements for the complimentary banquet to Hon. Geo. H. Pendleton at the Gibson house are progressing. It is estimated to be the most magnificent occasion of the kind ever known in this city. Already it is known that 500 seats will be occupied at the table, which is the minimum number decided upon by the committee in charge, and it is now probable that the maximum number of tickets, 200, will all be taken. But four complimentary invitations have been extended, viz.: Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio; Joseph E. McDonald, of Indiana; John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky; and Ottomar Von Mohl, imperial German consul at Cincinnati. J. F. Carberry will preside, and I. M. Jordan will act as toast-master. Among those who will respond to regular toasts will be the invited guests and Aaron F. Perry, Amor Smith, Wm. M. Ramey, and Henry Haacke, the latter to respond to "The Press." Mr. Carberry will speak to "Our Guest," and Mr. Pendleton will respond.

New Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—The president has appointed the following postmasters: John L. Lyndley, Ansonia, Conn., vice Bristol, resigned; Christian T. Georgia, Unionville, Conn., vice Cooke, suspended; D. B. Kirkley, Camden, S. C., vice Brooks, commission expired; R. A. Mitchell, Opelika, Ala., vice Hyman, commission expired; F. M. Householder, Noblesville, Ind., vice Fisher, resigned; J. S. Catherwood, Houston, Ill., vice Wallace, resigned; Alex. McKennon, Cockston, Minn., vice Jacobus, resigned; E. R. Debray, Clyde, Kan., vice Cornforth, resigned; George H. Tracy, Wilbur, Neb., vice Cole, commission expired; Wm. B. Hall, Wallingford, Conn., vice M. Hubbard, resigned.
